ONCE MORE FRIENDS LANGSTON AND MAHONE MEET AND

AGREE.

LANGSTON DICTATES TERMS TO MAHONE. The Colored Man Says Because His Hair Curls Is No Reason Why He Should

WASHINGTON, March 25 .- The Star tonight published a column story to the effect that a complete reconciliation between Mahone and Langston had been brought about through the intervention of ex-Congressman Waddell, from which the following extracts are made:

Be Discriminated Against.

This was their first greeting since the presiden-tial convention of 1888, and it was just a tirfle formal at first. The general, as The Star reporter was informed, was very punctilious, however, in his reception of Langston, who was dignified and cautious. For three hours they traveled up and down the line of Virginia politics, discussed records of the past, made mutual explanations and promises, and calculated as to the next campaign, gradually warming up to each other, until at the and of the conference they had become faster friends than ever, and had formulated some of the features of the campaign. It was a memorable interview. Langston repeatedly made this assertion the platform of his shall join you as a republican, and as such I "I shall join you as a republican, and as such I shall do my best to promote the interests of the party. I shall work for you, and your success, just as long as you help me. But, remember, this is to continue just so long as you treat me as a republican. The moment you oppose me in the least because my hair curls, or because I am black, I shall turn around and fight you to the bitter end. I shall fight any republican on the color line, but when that is obliterated I can fight with

Mahone replied that he appreciated the situation, and that henceforth there should be no partition of party spoils on the line of complexion. With this understanding the ex-enemies shook hands and swore featly to their common cause. It is understood that this means the sending of a Virginia delegation to the next presidential convention instructed for Harrison. No one, however, cares to go so far as to predict this with out reservation. It is not known whether the president had any hand in the efforts to bring about a compromise between the factions, but it is asserted that he has quietly removed several obstacles to this result within the past two months, and has done much to relieve the pres-

The New York World today says that the movement to secure one of the new circuit court judge-ships for a colored man is made in the interest of Langston, and that Langston in his candidacy re-lies for success in some measure upon the white republicans of Virginia.

THE WHITE RACE LEADS

In Percentage of Increase in the Southern

WASHINGTON, March 25 .- Superintendent Porter, of the census bureau, has in preparation an important bulletin giving the popula-tion of the south Atlantic and the south central states, Missouri and Kansas by races. The total population embraced in this count is given as 23,875,259, of which 16,868,205 were white, 6.996,166 'colored and 10,888 Chinese, Japanese and Indians. In the states included were found in 1800 fifteen sixteenths of the entire colored population of the United States, so that for the purpose of immediately ascertaining the percentage of increase of the colored population, the returns of these states are adequate and not likely to be materially affected by the returns of other states and territories; and where the colored population is small the abnormal increase of the colored population in what is known as the black belt during the decade ending 1880, led to the popular belief that the negroes were increasing at a much greater rate natural one, and arose from the difficulty of ascertaining how much of the increase shown by the tenth census was real, and how much was due to omissions of the census of 1870. The facts as ascertained sustain the of the colored population as shown in 1880 was apparent, not real, and that it was due to imperfect enumeration in the southern states

The following table gives the number of colored to every one hundred thousand whites in the United States for the decades since 1790 with the per cent of increase of each:

YEAR.	of Colored 10,000 White	Cent of In- ease White.	ease Colored
1790	54,254 53,900	33.9	33.1
1800	57,791	29.6	38.5
1820	58,386 59,756	28.1	29.9 32.3
1840	58,320	26.5	23.5
1850	55,319	31.8	22.4
1870	46,429 45,396	19.6	8.0
1880	41,475	24.6	13.9

During the past decade the colored race has not held its own against the whites in the region where the climate and conditions are, of all those which the country affords best, suited to its development.

It is seen that in the three decades, from 1800 to 1830, during a part of which time the slave trade was in progress, has the colored race increased more rapidly than the white. Since 1830 the whites have steadily increased at a more rapid rate than the colored people. This increase has not been affected by the aid of immigration, for with the exception of Kansas and Missouri these states have received comparatively few emigrants, either from foreign countries or from northern states.

Similarly the proportion of colored inhabitants to the white increased some what between 1800 and 1830, but since that time it has steadily diminished. In 1830, when the proportion was at its maximum, there were nearly six colored inhabitants to ten white, but this proportion has been reduced to a trifle more than four at the present date, or by nearly one-third of its amount.

The deficiencies of the ninth census, says Superintendent Porter, are so apparent in this table that any extended reference to them is The following table gives the present white

THEIR BRETHREN IN THE NORTH Urged to Support No Man Who Says Theirs

Is the Inferior Race. WASHINGTON, March 25.—The Interstate Civil and Political Rights Association of the United States, an organization of colored men, has issued an address to the negro voters of the north, in which they say that the president has done all that he "could do to influence such action in congress as would result in the holding of fair elections in the south, but that holding of fair elections in the south, but that some few senators have seen fit to vote in such a way as to rivet the political chains upon our brethren in the south and negative the influence of negro voters in the morth." Important elections are to be held this autumn in the northern states where the negro vote is the balance of power, and each negro in the north is urged "to constitute himself a committee of one to see some other voter and urge upon him the importance of refusing to vote for any candidate upon any ticket unless he is known to be a firm friend of the negro and the casting of a free ballot and the negro and the casting of a free ballot and having it fairly counted." The negroes are urged to organize for offensive and defensive purposes and allow the Anglo-Saxon to fight his political battles alone, whenever he is one of those men who have said that negroes are an inferior class of people to the Anglo-Saxon race.

THE DEMOCRATIC CLUBS. The National Association Issues a Circu

WASHINGTON, March 25 .- The national as washington, March 25.—The national association of democratic clubs have issued a circular letter addressed to democratic clubs throughout the United States inviting them to appropriately celebrate the anniversary of the birthday of Thomas Jefferson, on Thursday, the 2d day of April. In the circular the simplicity which democratical the 156 of 166. plicity which characterized the life of Jeffer-son is pointed out and contrasted with what "They could go no further," says the circular, "for they have exhausted the surplus in the treasury, and in the McKinley bill raised the taxes and prices to the last points of endurance. The time is especially appropriate—while celebrating the birth of the great apostle of liberty—to rejoice at once over the popular repudiation and final adjournment of the odious $1,000,000,000 congress, whose existence was a menace alike to the freedom, prosperity and business of the country.

JOHNSTON AND MAURY. The Old Warrior Bids Farewell to Hi

Friend. RICHMOND, Va., March 25 .- [Special.]-General Dabney Maury, who was with General Joseph E. Johnston at West Point, and served him in the Mexican war, and the late war, called to see him during his last illness When he was about to leave he said cheerfully that he hoped they would meet again soon. With General Maury's hand still in his, General Johnston pulled his old friend down to him and kissed him twice, once on the forehead and once on the lips.
"Yes," said General Johnston, "We will surely meet again."

It is believed that the sick soldier's allusion was not to another earthly meeting, but a re-union in the great hereafter.

LONG ON MAY WHEAT.

cause of the Excitement in the Chicag Wheat Market.

CHICAGO, March 25 .- A morning paper gives the following as the cause of the present excitement in the wheat market here: That there are a number of wealthy men who are largely interested in May wheat there can be no doubt, but their interest consists of letting go in a graceful way of their present holdings. If they are buyers from now on it will simply be to run up prices so that they can sell at higher figures. These men have been long on May wheat, and in the present state of the market they would like to dispose of all their holdings.

Early in October a number of brokers, acting for these millionaires, began buying December wheat, and so successful were they that before the end of the month their holdings ran way up into millions of bushels. Then the financial panic came on and it was found impossible to sell, so they had to carry it over to May. Yesterday was the first time these holders could say daylight. This was the cause of the heavy sales in the pit. They cause of the heavy sales in the pit. They have by no means gotten rid of all their holdings, and it is probable that the market will be allowed to get back to its normal condition before any more is sold. They are desirous of creating the impression that an attempt is being made to corner May wheat, and when prices revive sufficiently they will let the remainder of their holdings go. If necessary they may appear in the role of buyers.

of the Life-Saving Station—Several Bad Collisions on the Railroads. NORFOLK, Va., March 25 .- The steamer which went ashore a mile below Chicami-comico life-saving station, on the North Caro lina coast, yesterday morning, is the British steamship Straitpairly, bound from Santiago de Cuba to Baltimore, with iron ore. Out of a crew of twenty-six, nineteen were lost, including all the officers except the second mate.

The steamer will be a total loss. COMMUNICATION CUT OFF.
NORFOLK, March 25.—Communication between this city and the scene of the wreck of the steamer Straitairly, at Chicamicomic life-saving station, is interrupted by a break in the government telegraph cable across Oregon inlet. [This is an arm of the sea about three miles across, just south of Kitty Hawk.] All miles across, just south of Kitty Hawk.] All information from the wreck has to be brought across this break in a boat, and only two trips are made a day, and only then when the weather permits. The last trip was made this morning and all of the available facts have already been sent. No further information will be received until tomorrow morning, when it is thought that the names of the lost and saved will be secured. An order has been sent from the agents of the line in Baltimore to forward those of the crew who were saved to that city, and they are expected to arrive here the last of this week, when the full story of the wreck and its causes may be gotten from the second mate, who is among the saved.

COLLISIONS ON THE RAIL.

A Bad Smash-up on the Northwestern Rail-

MILWAUKEE, March 25 .- A serious wreck occurred on the Northwestern road at Racine junction last night, by which one man was killed, two dangerously hurt and three others more or less injured. A mail car, baggage car and five freight cars were destroyed by fire. The pecuniary loss is estimated at $50,-

The collision occurred at midnight between a north-bound Chicago and Northwestern passen-ger train and south-bound freight train on the ger train and south-bound freight train on the same line. The latter train consisted of sixty-four cars, and was under such headway that it could not be checked sufficiently to allow side-tracking. Both trains came together on the main track, at the depot, with the above re-sult. The fireman on the freight train was killed and both engineers dangerously hurt. The other men injured were all railroad em-ployes. COAL AND FRRIGHT TRAINS COLLIDE.

RICHMOND, Va., March 25.—Coal train No. 78, Conductor Stratton, collided with another 78, Conductor Stratton, coinided with another train drawing empty cars between Rock Castle and Stokes early this morning on the James river division of the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad, causing the death of Firemen Mahone and Sigfried. Conductor Moseby of the empty train had his arm broken. Both engines and fifteen cars were badly damaged. LIFTED BY A SNOW PLOW.

SUTTON, Neb., March 25 .- A flyer on the Burlington road crashed into the rear end of a stock train four miles east of town at 7:30 o'clock this morning, while running at a rate of fifty miles an hour. It was snowing hard at the time and the flyer had two engines pushing a snow, plow. The stock train was not seen by the engineer of the passenger train until the trains were twenty feet apart. The snow plow ran under six cars loaded with cattle, throwing them to the right and left of the track, and the seventh car landed on top the track, and the seventil car and the origine.

The second engine was thrown twenty-five feet to the side of the track and fell on its side, crushing and instantly killing Engineer Roberts, of Plattsmouth. Henry Udell, his fireman, was caught in the wreck, and escaping steam literally cooked his legs and arms and back.

The passenger coaches left the track, but were not overturned, and none of the pas-sengers were injured. It is said that the cause of the accident was a wrong order given by the train dispatcher. The cattle in the car which landed on top of the engine were released by the passengers, who built a bridge twenty feet long and drove the animals down. Only one steer was hurt.

A SEVERE SNOWSTORM.

The Worst Storm of the Season in Kansas.

Railroads Blockaded. KANSAS CITY, March 25 .- Dispatches from Kansas state that the worst snowstorm of the eason is raging in that state. Trains from the west came in late this morning—that is, those that got in at all—and their crews all have woeful tales to tell. The country from astern Kansas to Denver has disappeared under an immense fall of snow, At Junction City the snow is five inches deep; at Hayes

City, twelve inches.

A biting windstorm is whirling the snow into great drifts and the railroad tracks everywhere have disappeared from sight.

A dispatch from Atchison says that the Central branch division of the Missouri Pacific is not moving a wheel today on account of the snow blockade. Several trains have been train and passenger train.

A snowplow was started out this aternoon, but as fast as it cleared a pathway the snow drifted in behind it and the attempt was abanloned, leaving the plow engine to die in the

the Czar. Paris, March 25 .- The Journal des Debats today announces that Baron de | Mohrenheim, Russian minister here, will tomorrow formally present President Carnot with the grand ordon of the order of St. Andrew, the Russian decoration which the czar, by the recently signed decree, conferred upon the president of the French republic. This ceremony, according to an impression prevailing in Berlin, marks an important epoch in the history of France and in the history of Russia, and is supposed to point to the actual conclusion of a formal treaty of alliance between France and Russia. In Berlin official circles it is said that the czar, until recently, has resisted all attempts of going beyond an entente cordiale with France. The precise terms of this most important convention are said to be unknown to the powers forming the famous triple alliance, but it is expected that M. de Giers, Russian minister of foreign affairs, will not long keep the matments forming the triple alliance to be made aware of the main features of the compact entered into between Russia and France. will result in cementing the peace of Europe, or whether it will tend to aggravate the triple alliance powers, are matters which the cabinets of Europe are at present anxiously discussing.

THE NIGHT THAT HENNESSY WAS MURDERED.

SHOWING THAT IT HAD BEEN DOCTORED.

What an Electric Light Inspector Says—The Report to Mayor Shakspeare on the Flag Incident.

NEW ORLEANS, March 25 .- The Picayune this morning prints an interesting story in support of the charge that the records of the Louisiana Electric Light Company were doctored in order to make it appe that the light at the corner of Basin and Girod streets was burning dimly at the time Hennessy was slain. Martin Gash was an employe of the company and was recently discharged. He was among the witnesses summoned before the grand jury. Gash said he was a clerk appointed by the city, but was paid by the electric light company to compare the police reports of lights with the company's report. investigate discrepencies and make a corrected light report. He was thoroughly posted as to the work of trimmers and inspectors. The light near his house is on the same circuit as the Girod street lights. He got home after 11 o'clock the night Hennessy was killed, and when he passed the corner of Girod and Basin, the light there was burning brightly. In looking over his reports he found that from 10:20 to 11 o'clock the light had been burning dimly, but that subsequent to 11 o'clock it was bright. O'Malley came to him and was bright. O'Malley came to him and sought information touching the number of the Girod street circuit inspector who attends it and other particulars. Each night the circuit book was turned over to the inspector who thus made his entries. A type written copy for the main office and letterpress copy for the works were made. The book was then turned over to Gash, and at the end of the month Gash sealed with wire the book of reports and placed them on a shelf over his desk. McGrath and the superintendent of the works were the only persons having access to the books. About the beginning of March Gash observed that the October book had been tampered with, the wire seal being broken.

Gash examined the book, and found that the figures 40 had been added after 11 o'clock, in which the report of circuit No. 6, on which the Girod and Basin streets light is located, for October 15th, making it appear that the light of Glead and Besin streets was hurning diraly. October 15th, making it appear that the light at Girod and Basin streets was buxning dimly between 10:30 and 11:40 o'clock, the time of the shooting. On March 5th Gash turned the books over to McGrath. The next morning he received a subpoena from the criminal court as a witness for the defense. Inspectors Riley and Meyer and two dynamo men were also and Meyer and two dynamo men were also summoned. He was not asked to bring the book. Suspecting he was wanted to testify as to the light, and fearing it might be attempted to hold him by the 11:40 o'clock entry he went into McGrath's office and asked to see the press copy of reports. He found that the copy had not been tampered with and showed that after 11 o'clock the lights burned well. So he went to the court and intended, if placed on the stand, to say the original report had been falsified, and to call for the press copy to prove his assertion. He was never called.

The Flag Incident.

NEW ORLEANS, March 25.—In obedience to orders by Mayor Shakspeare to investigate the flag incident upon the acquittal of the Italians, the following report has been made: About 4 o'clock on Friday evening, the 13th, a crowd of Italians, numbering from forty to fifty men, congregated on the levee, at the head of Ursulines street. Three of them, named Gluseppe Leperico, A. Lancetta and Romano Barchielone, the latter a brother-in-law of James Caruso, indicted as one of the assassins of Chief Hennessy, entered a shanty at that place, which is owned by Italian stevedores and used by them as a warehouse for baskets, flowers, etc., for fruit ships and luggers, and took there from a number of flags, among them an American flag. Peter Corales, keeper of the hanty, made no effort to prevent the men from taking the flag. On the flag staff attached to this shanty, Leperico, Lancetta and Barchielone hoisted flags, the Italian at the top and the American turned upside down, below it. The affair created considerable excitement and a crowd soon gathered. The names and addresses of a large number of witnesses are appended to the report.

THE BULLET IN THE BRAIN.

The Suicide of a Well-Known Cotton Man in Charleston

CHARLESTON, S. C., March 25 .- [Special.]-The cotton market here was again upset today by another mysterious suicide. Between 4 and o'clock this evening, C. W. Henry, a wellknown cotton factor was found by his clerk, Edward North, sitting at his desk in his office on Adger's wharf with a bullet in his brain. In his right hand was grasped a revolver, one barrel discharged. The thumb pressed on the trigger. The pistol had been thrust in his right ear, and discharged. On the floor under the chair on which he sat, was a pool of fresh blood. On the desk before him was his order book and check book. Nobody heard the fatal shot, which must have been fired about 4 o'clock this evening, while most of the cotton men were at dinner. No cause can be assigned for the suicide. De-ceased was well and prominently known in the community. He was a native of New York state, and came here while a boy. He was adopted by Mrs. John Wilkes, and grewl up in the cotton business, being formerly in the firm of Middleton & Co. He served during the war in the Charleston Light Dragoons, and was a gallant soldier, serving throughout the entire war in the ranks. He throughout the entire war in the ranks. He has not a relative here. His sole surviving sister is Miss Elizabeth V. Henry, a resident of Albany, N. Y. This is the second suicide in the cotton exchange this season.

A STEADY GROWTH.

New Industries Established in the South in Three Months.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., March 25. - The Tradesman's report of new industries estab-lished in the southern states during the first three months of 1891 shows a total of 853, against 837 in the corresponding period of 1890, and 612 in the corresponding period in 1889.

The figures for the quarter show a healthful and steady growth in the south's material development. During the three months there were established in the southern states six agricultural implement works, six barrel factories, twelve boot and shoe factories ((comparatively new industries in the south, only two having been established in the first quarter of 1890 and one in the first quarter of 1889), three breweries, one bridge works, two car works, ten canning factories, forty-five cotton and woolen mills (which is somewhat below the number established in the corresponding quarter of 1890, but the distribution is general. Georgia leading with twelve, South Carolina eight, Texas seven, and nearly every other soushern state being represented) fifty-eight large developbeing represented) fifty-eight large development and improvement companies organized, Texas leading with twelve, Alabama ten; thirty-one electric light companies organized, twenty-two flour and grist mills, forty-seven foundry and machine shops against forty-three in 1890, and forty-five in 1889 (Texas leading with ten, Virginia nine, the balance being equally distributed); nine blast furnace companies organized, against twenty-three in the corresponding period of 1890 and seventeen in 1889; seven gas works organized, twenty-eight ice manufacturing plants, fifty-three mining and quarrying companies incorporated, four nail works, eight oil mills against twenty-one in the corresponding period against twenty-one in the corresponding period of 1890, five potteries, one rolling mill company, fifty-three street railway lines incorporated, twelve tanneries, thirty-two water works chartered, 141 wood-working plants and works chartered, 141 wood-working plants and seventy-nine miscellaneous industries.

The phosphate excitement in the south is shown by the fact that thirty-two new companies were organized during the quarter, nineteen of which were formed in Florida. Extraordinary activity in railroad building in the south is evidenced by the fact that during the three months ninety-three new railroad companies were incorporated, of which thirteen were in Virginia, thirteen in North Carolina, twelve in Georgia, ten in Alabama, seven each in West Virginia, Texas and South Carolina and eleven in Tennessee. The Tradesman says that present indications point to continued activity in the southern states in all industrial branches, and the ensuing year gives more flattering promise of substantial development in manufacturing growth than any previous year, the most gratifying feature of this being the diversified character of the new industries.

ADVISED TO REDUCE ACREAGE.

Resolutions of the Alliance Managers a BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 25 .- The meet ing of business managers of the southern alli-ance exchanges adjourned late tonight. Reso-lutions were adopted that it costs 8 cents s pound to raise cotton, and urging sou farmers to reduce their acreage this year by at least one-third. They also urge that no won be allowed to work in the field, but that they be kept at home raising chickens and other articles that will do for food. A resolution was adopted favoring the estab lishment of a cotton tie factory in Birming ham, the products of which will be used by the alliance, and a committee was appointed or that subject, with Manager Gaither, of this

AT ADAMS' PARK. THE ATLANTA TRAIN GETS IN

But Atlanta People Did Most of the Buying After They Got There—A Magnificent Success in Every Respect.

MACON, Ga., March 25 .- [Special.]-Fully 2,000 people assembled today to witness and participate in the birth of the new city of Adam's Park, on the East Tennessee railroad, twenty-five miles below Macon. This is the first point of development in Hitchcock's Georgia colony, the initial progressive move to open up the great agricultural belt and lead to new prosperity and wealth. The new settlemen will cover 24,000 acres of the best land in Georgia, in the heart of the cotton belt. Immediate steps will be taken to bring about an immigration of the best class of farming people from all sections of this country and Eur

The demonstration today consisted in a great auction sale of building lots, 25x100 in the pro posed city of Adam's Park. Surrounding the new town are the many thousands of acres of land, which will be divided into small farms for immigrants, and these farmers will furnish support and backbone to the town.

THE PEOPLE ARRIVE. At 11 o'clock a special train of eleven coaches started from Macon, carrying over 1,000 people to Adam's Park. All were granted free transportation for the round trip. It was expected that a special train of eight loaded ches from Atlanta would reach Macon at 11 o'clock and go to Adam's Park at the same time the Macon train did, but owing to the delay in leaving Atlanta, the Atlanta special did not reach'Adam's Park until after 2 o'clock, and not until after the free barbecue had been eaten. Consequently the bulk of the Atlanta crowd had do without dinner. Yet this unpleasant fact did not lessen their interest in the slightest, and the Atlanta people were the most active bidders present, among them Mr. Howell Erwin, Mr. E. G. Lind and Dr. A. Johnson. A majority of the lots were bought by Atlanta people.

THE PROJECT EXPLAINED. When the great crowd had assembled, which consisted of hundreds from Twiggs and neighboring counties, Benjamin W. Hitchcock, of New York, the founder of the new city, was introduced in an appropriate and excellent speech by George W. Duncan, of Macon, and Hitchcock made an admirable address, which was full of patriotism, eloquence and hard

He explained fully the scheme, and said he would populate this country with a thrifty and worthy class of immigrants, who would add to the growth and substantial development of Georgia. He pictured a bright and roseate future for the Empire State of the south. He an ardent friend of the south, and pled for the most perfect unity and harmony

THE SALE BEGINS. Hitchcock's speech was well received by the multitude, and it filled the people with much enthusiasm, and Hitchcock made a friend of every one present. The auction sale commenced immediately at the close of the speaking. George Duncan, of Macon, of the large and popular real estate firm of Duncan & Carnes, was auctioneer. Despite the late hour at which the sales commenced, this afternoon 138 lots were sold, realizing $1,653. The highest priced lot was $22; the lowest brought $9. Mr. Hitchcock was well pleased with the day's result. He will project other excursions at a near day from Macon, Atlants, New York and European points.

The greatest good order prevailed all day.
There were no disturbances. One feature of the multitude was its white complexion. Mr.
Hitchcock allowed no negroes to go from Macon or Atlants, as he said he did not wish that kind of husers. Two young white felthat kind of buyers. Two young white fellows, supposed to be from Atlanta, robbed Mr. Weaver, of Macon, of $100. They rubbed against him at the train and picked his pocket. They escaped in the crowd.

A GREAT CAR COUPLER.

The Invention of a Macon Man-Interesting to Railroads.

Macon, Ga., March 25.—[Special.]—Mr. David Aultman, of Macon, has invented what is said to be the best and most complete car coupler ever devised. His is a self-coupler; it can be uncoupled without going between cars; it is simple, strong and durable. The surface of the drawhead is like the or-

It is simple, strong and durable.

The surface of the drawhead is like the ordinary coupler, and presents a solid surface which it would be almost impossible to break. Inside the outer surface, which receives the shock when cars are being coupled, it is inclined to be bell-shaped, and presents a receding surface to the point at which the pin rests and the cavity which receives the link. This peculiar slope prevents the possibility of the link striking solidly against the opposing drawhead, and allows the link to slide along the angle until received and secured in the opposing head.

This shape also makes it possible to couple cars of different heights.

In the top of the drawhead is an oblong opening through which the pin swings. It is held at the top by a movable fastening which allows the pin to move up and down, and at the same time keeps it from becoming detached from the coupling and being lost. When the link in one coupling strikes the opposing coupling the link slides under the pin in the opposing coupling, the pin drops behind the link and the coupling is made. In order to uncouple, it is only necessary to step to the side of the car, pull a lever, the pin rises and the link is relieved.

& LUNATIC HOLDS THE COUNTY AT

A Day of Terror on a Morgan County Plan ion—He Was a Prophet, and Therein Lay His Weakness—The Chase.

Madison, Ga., March 25.—[Special.]— Sheriff H. C. Fears relates a thrilling experince with a negro lunatic. He says:
"Yesterday at 11 o'clock, Ordinary Baldwin

anded me a warrant for the arrest of William Parks, colored, charged by his mother as being insane. I proceeded out about four miles from this city to his house, having procured two colored men to assist in making the arrest. We went to the house, and found him locked up in the room with an ax, heavy pole, an iron wedge and a double ed, breach-loading shotgun at hand defying any one to enter the house. I called upon him to surrender, and made one of my se call him, but he gave no answer. Hear ing nothing from him I concluded he had barred the doors and had gone out under the floor. Finding no sign of his departure I under the door through the cat holes but failed to discover him. I then forced the door open. LIKE A LION AT BAY.

"He was standing in the far corner with his gun cocked, his eyes glaring like a lion at bay, and his every nerve strung to its highest pitch He defied me to enter. Being unarmed I re treated, and when outside made every effort and used every persuasion to get him out of the house, but he refused. I put some colored people to watch the crazy man, and came back to town intending to return this morning with another posse and take him. At 12 o'clock last night I was aroused by messenger who came with the intelligence that a desperate man had entered a house or W. J. Orr's plantation, and at the point of a double-barreled shotgun had run mates out except three small children, who were asleep. He had barred the doors, and when surrounded by the people on the place, said he would admit a colored boy named Shock Zimmerman. Shock made an effort to enter the house, but was fired upon by the lunatic, the shot entering the door. Shock then fired a pistol at the lunatic and retreated.

IN POSSESSION OF THE HOUSE. "When I arrived upon the scene, at 2 o'clock this morning. I found him in possession of the house, surrounded by a body of about forty colored people, all armed with shotguns, awaitarrival. Whenever one would aping my proach the house, the crazy negro would immediately cock his gun, ready to shoot any man who would touch him. I told the men that the boy was crazy, and that we must take him, if possible, without injury. I then tried strategy, and succeeded. The lunatic said he would allow Colonel D. F. Dewoj to do any thing he wanted with him, saying:

"Mr. Dewoj is a prophet, as well as I am."
"I dispatched a messenger for Colonel Dewoj and withdrew my force to a safe distance. Be fore Colonel Dewoj arrived the crazy man, of his own accord, came out of the house. I immediately approached him and he told me he was going to Colonel Dewoj.

RUN DOWN AT LAST. "I told him to go on and I would follow him and I then ordered a portion of my posse to make a flank movement and conceal selves, and catch him as he passed. The moon was shining brightly and he saw the posse, and immediately turned at right angles and fled. I ordered the posse to pursue him. He ran through a creek swamp, and whenever we approached near enough he would whirl and fire upon us, and run and reload. We pursued him for a mile or two in this manner our posse keeping in sight of him. The pos outran me 200 or 300 yards. The fleetest man being near to him, the lunatic fired upon him The runner dropped behind. They both fired simultaneously, the pursuer receiving a shot in the right jaw, while the lunatic was shot in the thigh. He fell to the ground, and our posse rushed upon him and disarmed him before he could reload. The lunatic is now confined in jail and will doubtless be tried tomorrow morn-ing. He is said to be only crazy at times, and was rational today. He is badly wounded."

Buchanan, Ga., March 25.—[Special.]—Golden is the name of a new postoffice at Mr. W. S. Weatherington's store, about five miles east of Buchanan. This office is suppled by a weekly mail from Buchanan—Saturday being mail day. This is a very short route, but the enterprising citizens of that community propose to keep up with the times by sustaining their office. They speak of having it extended to Draketown, which should be done. As it is now the mails from Buchanan to Draketown have to go via Temple, and through misconnections our mails are often thrown badly behind. In fact, the line would be of great convenience if extended through the county from Draketown to Poplar Springs, Little Creek and Newsville. The mail from this place to the three last named offices now goes via Tallaposa, and like our Draketown mail is often delayed. They are badly in need of an office at Wesley Chapel, between here and Poplar Springs. Want. Poplar Springs.

Gardner, Eugene M. Mitchell and Charles F. Rice. A BILL now pending in the Maine legislature makes liquor dealers and men who drink liquor ineligible for jury duty. If the bill becomes a law it will probably turn every able-bodied citizen in the state into a moderate tippler, because freedon from jury duty is exactly what the average man wants. If the Maine statesmen are determined to stop liquor selling and drinking, why not impose the death penalty?

It really seems that an effort is being made to enforce the law against the sale of cigarettes to minors in Georgia. Some weeks ago a Carters ville merchant was hauled up in the courts and fined for violating the law. A few days ago three Savannah dealers were summoned to answer a similar charge, and upon conviction each was fined $100. Vigorous measures are being taken to enforce the law in other towns, and parties con victed of violating it will be fined to the fulles

HANCOCK FOUND DEAD. He Was Drunkjat the Time and Had Driver His Family Off.

Madison Ga., March 25.—[Special.]—R. B. Hancock, a farmer who resides about four miles from this city, was found dead in his house yesterday. Late yesterday afternoon a coroner's jury was summoned and Dr. A. E. Andrews, acted in the capacity of a notary public in the absence of Coroner G. N. Dexter.

When the jury reached the residence s ghastly sight met their eyes. There upon the the marks of decomposition plainly visible. The evidence introduced before the jury went to show that Hancock was in the habit of indulging in periodical sprees, and when in-toxicated was very cruel to his wife and children. On account of this cruelty, his wife would gather her little ones and leave her home until her husband would become sober. Last Thursday Mr. Hancock came to town and drank freely. He went home drunk and began abusing his wife, causing her to leave home and seek refuge with her father's family, several miles distant. Hancock remained drunk until death claimed him as a victim. and his lifeless body was found yesterday morning by a neighbor, Mr. Richardson, who had called on some little business errand.

Alliancemen of Catoosa County, Ga. On Thursday, the 16th of Aprn, Hon. L. F. Livingston, president of the state alliance, will address the alliance and other citizens of Catoosa county. This will be the occasion for every allianceman to show his interest in the welfare of the order, to use every effort to have every citizen in the county out to near our honored president. Every farmer ought to be in the alliance; and to be convinced of that fact, it is only necessary for them to hear our chief of this state, who is carrying our glorious banner high over the head of all opposition. Therefore, let every man, woman and child in the county be out to hear our worthy brother. Let every Catoosa county allianceman do his duty and bring out all the people. Speaking will commence promptly at 1 o'clock p. m., Thursday, April 16th.

Run Over and Killed.

WAYCROSS Ga., March 25.—[Special.]—Last night between 12 and 1 o'clock, an unknown negro was run over here in the yard limits on the Savannah, Florida and Western railroad. He was instantly killed. Conductor Ballard says he came on his train from Stockton yesterday morning. He had on navy blue pants, white stripes down the leg, and appeared to be forty years old. In his pocket were found two Baptist Sunday school quarterlies and a prayer book, also a telegram from Albany to Captain Tucker, of Brunswick, signed Dallas Mosely, and the following addresses: E. T. Johnson & Co., St. Augustine; J. E. Johnson & Co., Marietta. Run Over and Killed.

Burned to Death.

Union Point, Ga., March 25.—[Special.]— little colored girl near here was so badly urned yesterday that she died this morning. She was playing where some brush had been burning, her dress caught fire and before help reached her she was burned almost to a criss about the back and other parts of her body about the back and other parts of her body. Her mother was away at the time, It seems strange that parents will leave their children that way. DON'T GIVE UP

TO RECOMMEND AN AUCTION SALE. After the bids were all opened there was ensiderable discussion among those interested in regard to the smallness of the bids.

They are returnable to the court today, and when they are returned by Mr. Gress, he will probably recommend an auction sale of the property, as it was decided that the creditors would realize more from a sale at public outcry than from sealed bids, as in the case

If this step is taken and the recommendation favorably received by the court, it is probable that the sale will take place next Tuesday, as the machinery is lying idle and deteriorating in consequence; the hands are out of employ-ment and the contracts are not being filled that were made with a large number of business establishments for boxes to be furnished by the factory.

ANXIOUS TO BEGIN WORK.

All those whose bids were opened yesterday expressed themselves as anxious to resume business at once, providing their bids were

The creditors are also very anxious to have the work go on, as every day that the factory is idle means that much loss to them.
So it follows that if the bid of any individual is accepted, the factory will be started immediately, and if sold at auction, whoever becomes the purchaser will find it to his interest to resume active operations at once.

THE SALE OF SEATS

FOR THE STANLEY LECTURE WILL OCCUR TODAY.

How the Seats Will Re Sold and How to Get

Them—The Demand for Boxes and Seats—A Large Crowd Expected.

The sale of seats for the Stanley lecture will begin this morning
At the Young Men's Library at 11 O'clock The library will open at the usual hour of 9 o'clock, but there will be two policemen on hand to keep order. Those who wish to buy reserved seats will go up in single file on the right of the hall, passing in front of the desk

No tickets will be sold until 11 o'clock and the box sheet will not be brought into the building until that time.

The first thing will be the sale at auction of the fifteen boxes. This will begin promptly at 11 o'clock, and when the boxes are disposed of the sale of seats will begin at the fixed prices, $2, $1.50 and $1.

Those who wish to bid on boxes will be admitted to the hall directly, and all the tables and chairs will be removed so that there will be plenty of room for them.

Those who are admitted to the center of the hall to bid on boxes will not interfere with those in line to buy seats; and when the sale of boxes is over, the first man in the single file takes the first ticket, and those behind him come up in succession. Mr. J. R. Nutting, chairman of the entertainment committee, chairman of the entertainment committee, will have charge of the box sheet and sell the tickets. He will be assisted by several members of the committee.

They wish it understood that those who get tickets will have to come in line, and the policemen are on hand to prevent crowding in and and breaking the succession.

It will expedite matters very much if every man will bring the exact change for the tickets he wants to buy. Do this, and there will be no delay in making change.

If business men or ladies don't wish to go, and wait for a chance to buy seats, the best thing they can do is to hire a good, lively boy, give him the money and tell him to "get there."

The committee in charge of the sale has been pressed by rigned to gearly off seats but

The Demand for Boxes

The committee had several applications for boxes yesterday, but, of course, had to refer them to the auctioneer, Colonel G. W. Adair, who will give everybody a fair showing. Applications for seats from out-of-town peo-ple continue to come in. Their best plan is to get friends in Atlanta to secure seats for them in the same way that Atlanta people get seats for themselves. A pleasant, safe, and reliable, and cheap rem

ATLANTA, GA., MARCH 26, 1891.

A Timely Suggestion.

In his very interesting reminiscences, printed in last Sunday's Constitution, Colonel Richard Malcolm Johnston said that the south had been too busy making history to write it. On the other hand, the north treasures historical records, and her great men have never failed to find able and careful biographers.

Southern history is full of chivalry and romance, and our warriors, statesmen and orators are the peers of any of their contemporaries. But we leave our annals unwritten, and tradition gradually sinks into the grave of the dead past.

This is unjust to ourselves and to the world. We must take some care of history, or it will not take care of us. Other states are setting us examples worthy to be fol lowed. A visitor to the capital of Indiana found in the state library a complete history of each county in the state.

It will be said that we have the Georgia Historical Society. This is true, but it is in Savannah, and not here at the capital where it is most needed. Atlanta is naturally the point where visitors from the north and from Europe-travelers of all classes, capitalists, journalists and literary men-expect to find a collection of historical records. The thing to do is to organize the State Historical Society in this city, and preserve in permanent shape everything worth recording in the annals of a great commonwealth.

Such a society would be a powerful educational factor, and it would do an incalculable amount of good in placing our state before the world in its proper light. We have suffered enough from the false history written by unfriendly outsiders, and the only way to vindicate the truth is to tell our story ourselves, and keep it before the Crazy Mugwumps.

There seems to be some trouble in the minds of the mugwumps and republicans over the fact that Governor Hill of New York, has accepted an invitation to deliver the address at the unveiling of the Grady monument, in this city. They are seriously disturbed, and their comments show that they regard the affair as a political move-

Here is The Boston Transcript, for in-New York's governor will deliver the address at the unveiling of the Grady monument, it goes on to remark that "the governor will take occasion to let his presidentia boomlet fly among the Georgians." To this it adds: "Northern democrats who assist in the business of backing up this demagogical self-seeker and intriguer may wish next year that they hadn't done so.'

The idea intended to be conveyed by this virtuous Boston editor is that Governor Hill intrigued for the invitation, and now, having received and accepted it, proposes to take advantage of the occasion to further his political aspirations. In spite of the malice of it, the idea is an amusing one. It would puzzle even the intellectual and virtuous Boston editor how personal politics can be Injected into a memorial address.

Governor Hill was bent on a political mission when he went into McKinley's district and contributed to the great tariff maker. He is coming to Georgia to deliver a memorial address at the unveiling of a monument that has been lovingly reared to the memory of the south's best beloved son,

How About the Monroe Doctrine?

If it be true that a fight has already occurred between the Venezuelans and the English on the frontier of British Guiana, our government has good grounds for vigorinterfering, in order to carry out what is known as the Monroe doctrine.

The situation is simply this. Without a shadow of justification Great Britain, half a century ago, ignored the lawful boundary line between Guiana and Venezuela, and pushed her outposts west of the river. Venela protested and has continued to 'prolest for fifty years, pleading unavailingly for the arbitration of the matter, but the British here continued their aggressive policy. Last year the stolen territory, which is larger than the state of New York, was officially claimed as British soil, and diplomatic relations between the two countries were broken off. The merits of the question are so well nown that The New York Herald says: England's position seems indefensible, exsept on the old ground that the strong among nations has the right to rob the

Now, we are on the best of terms with Venezuela. Our resident minister, Hon. William L. Seruggs, of Atlanta, has always and the Venezuelans eager to facilitate trade between the two countries, and our South American neighbor is looming up as quite an important factor in our commerce. Under the circumstances it is natural that the bearing of the Monroe doctrine upon the case should be considered. If that doctrine is still a part of our policy, it would notify Great Britain that this wholesale robbery will not be permitted. We cannot ignore this case without establishing a precedent that will smash all our promises to resist the efforts of European monarchies to extend their system over any part of the Western hemisphere.

THE CONSTITUTION

What are we going to do about it? Perhaps we only assert the Monroe doctrine when the aggressor is weak, and let it rest when he is strong enough to give us trouble.

Undoubtedly Innocent.

Young Mr. Miller, who is charged with setting fire to a flat in Brooklyn, New York, admits that he deliberately started the blaze, but he will plead not guilty.

His explanation is eminently satisfactory. "I can only explain my action," he said, by sudden insanity from taking too much quinine and overwork."

Of course this will go down with an intelligent jury. The newspapers are filled with stories of the eccentric conduct of persons who take overdoses of quinine, and the fact that they are in print is sufficient for people of the Captain Cuttle order of intellect. It is safe to say that the Brooklyn firebug will be allowed to go free. His ingenious plea is just the thing to favorably impress the average northern jury. But perhaps it would be the prudent course to fight shy of quinine lunatics. If the consumers of this drug are not responsible for their actions, the less we have to do with them the better. We may be mistaken in anticipating the result of this case, but within the past few northern cities have escaped punishment by pleading too much quinine.

It is to be hoped that when Mr. Miller gets out he will change his medicine, and years prominent offenders against the law in quit prescribing for himself.

It Cannot Be Postponed.

There are some very able and influential democrats-among them Mr. Wattersonwho think that the silver question ought to be and can be postponed, and the intimations are that they propose to make an effort in that direction. We shall watch this effort with an interest hightened by our personal regard for the gentlemen who are engaged in the enterprise.

We feel bound, however, to put on record our belief that the effort will prove to be a failure. Like the question of tariff reform, the silver question belongs to those issues over which mere party organization has little or no control. It is a pressing and a persistent question. For a dozen years it has been growing in importance, and it will continue to grow until it is settled in the way the people desire it to be settled.

The contention now is, if we understand the matter correctly, that the silver issue should be postponed in order that certain prominent individuals may not be embarrassed by it. Mr. Watterson, whose able paper has been humming away in behalf of free silver for several years, says that the issue is a vague and an uncertain one, and he thinks it ought to be postponed so that democrats with goldbug and Wall street views may stand on the same footing with democrats who believe that these views are opposed to the best interests of the people. Indeed, there seems to be a belief in some quarters that the democratic party, responsive to the demand made on it by influential men, has already postponed the silver question. Congress has adjourned, there is lull in the controversy, and it is supposed that the whole matter has been forgotten The mugwump papers are making a great deal out of this state of affairs, and it is said on trustworthy authority that they have ceased to hoard gold. So that, taking one thing with another, the pressure of things has been relaxed, and a beautiful calm pervades the great minds which were awhile ago disturbed. Nevertheless, the situation is deceptive. The silver issue was never a livelier issue than it is to-day. The able democrats who are making arrangements to postpone it cannot escape it if they would. The democratic party cannot do violence to the wishes of a vast majority of the votes of this country by postponing or flouting this issue, and it will not. The fact that there is no discussion going on, does not deceive those who are in touch with the people, and the fact that free coinage is said not to be popular in the east need worry no democrats. There are more silver men in the east than there are mugwumps, and they are repre sented by that bold and popular democratic newspaper. The Boston Globe. Mr. Ingalls, republican and goldbug as he is, has caught a glimpse of the real situation. He has been traveling through the west since his defeat, and he perceives very clearly that the silver issue will exert tremendous, if not an overpowering, influence in the next campaign. The movement which the ex-senator caught a glimpse of in the west extends throughout the whole country, and the promise of it is a sweeping democratic victory for the democrats in 1892.

The silver question will not be postponed. WILL THE governor of Vermont refuse the maple sugar bounty?

IF you want to see a mugwump in the air, get him to talking about free silver. IT is to be feared that the democrats of Connecticut haven't got as much backbone as an organ-grinder. SENATOR EDMUNDS is in Augusta. He should step over into Texas and interview Governor Hogg about the sugar bounty. IT is said that the average Californian legislator charges $2,000 for his vote. In the matter of a senatorship this is not any too much. THERE ARE five candidates for mayor of mayors during the session of the world's fair. THEY ARE about to have another campaign in Cincinnati. This is the Ohio plan-an election every fortnight, and a riot the rest of the

THE BRAZILIAN reciprocity business is still talked about in the republican newspapers. It seems that some of the big editors really be lieve that reciprocity is now reciprocating.

HERE IS a conflict between two editorial minds. Mr. Halstead says that, in the event of free coinage, "our gold will be discarded." Mr. Dana, on the other hand, says that gold will command a small premium. Was gold discarded or at a premium when the mints of this country were open to the free coinage of silver? If not, why not? And if not, why should such things happen now?

IN MANY northern dailies the complaint is made that excessive taxation is driving great enter prises out of Ohio, Pennsylvania and other north ern states, and that capitalists are preparing to move their business to Virginia, Georgia, Ten-nessee and Alabama. THE GRIP is going to wind us up, destroy whe us out. So says Dr. W. P. Phelon, a physi-cian and scientist of Chicago. The doctor says that the grip is caused by microbes of great power. These microbes are increasing and will return annually in swarms, finally resulting in a scourge that will be more extensive in its destructive operations than any plague ever known in history. The grip microbes cannot be killed by heat or cold. They invade the blood and tissues, and are in the air we breathe. Last year they came in millions, this year in billions, and next year they will return in greater numbers. The disease will every year become more dreaded, until it will be feared more than smallpox or cholera. There is at present, says Dr. Phelon, known preventive, and the outlook is gloomy.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Ascribed to the Wrong One. Asheville, N. C., March 24, 1891.—Editor Constitution: In the very interesting memoir of General Joseph E. Johnston, by Major Mims, in cour vesterday's issue, a remark is accribed General Lee which properly belongs to another. General Lee is quoted as having said: "If Johnston is not a general, we haven't any."

The remark was made, but of another Johnston, and by another commentator. After the fall of "Henry" and "Donelson" and the evacuation of Kentucky, President Davis was besieged by bomb-proof heroes and blatant politicians demanding the removal of that peerless paladin, Albert Sidney Johnston. His simple reply was: "If Johnston is not a general for soldier, we haven't any." Let Shiloh answer for the estimate and the man.

Far be it from me to pluck a single leaf from the chaplet of any who deserves to wear it, but let each wear that to which he is entitled. Cotton Valley, March 21.—Editor Constitution: Answer in your next issue and oblige a Louisiana subscriber: Does the Georgia pension act refer to all confederate soldiers as well as to widows? Does removal from state affect the claim? Explain conditions of act of 1890.

The pension act only applies to those confederate soldiers residents of Georgia, who were wounded to such an extent as to disable them in body, limb or sight. Removal from the state destroys the claim. Only those who reside in Georgia may receive the pension.

There has never been a regular party enrollment in Charleston under the new constitution of the democratic party. This is now obligatory to all democratics, and clubs are being organized to conform to this change. The question of preference fer mayor has nothing whatever to do with the club formation, everyone being free to do as he pleases hereafter. There is not only no excitement in Charleston, but the club formations are going on leisurely, and the new registration is decidedly slow.

In 1850 he was married to Miss Martha Chamberlain Griffin, and has five business—not time enough, perhaps, to make as good bargains for the city as might be made. A purchasing agent might save the city many times what his salary would amount to, and his salary would not be large, because only a small part of his time would be given to the city's business. The Augusta papers also have taken up the sub-ect and commended it to the thoughtful consid-

He is an elder in the Bethany Presbyterian church, in Newton county. He has been a member of the house and senate of Georgia, and for eleven years was vice president or president of the Georgia State Agricultural Society. He is now president of the Georgia State Agricultural Society. He is now president of the Georgia State Farmers' Alliance. He has always been a farmer, and is the real editor-in-chief of The Southern Alliance Farmer, published at Atlanta. The vote in Colonel Livingston's district last fall was only 8,268, of which he received 5,668; Will Haight, republican, received 3,189, and eleven votes were scattering. Colonel Livingston is one of the leaders of the National Farmers' Alliance, He was one of the most prominent figures at the secent convention in Ocala. In fact, he was so prominent on the floor of the convention that he was taken to task by one delegate, who asserted that he occupied more time than all the other speakers put together. He was the chairman of the first newspaper committee appointed by President Polk at Ocala, and in that capacity he won the regard of all the newspaper men present at the convention by his courtesy and liberality. It was perhaps due to the fact that he was so liberal in giving out news that he was superseded as chairman of the newspaper committee by a man who either did not know or would not tell anything that was going on in the convention.

Colonel Livingston is not unknown in Washington. He was there during the last session of conchange, which was so fully reported in The Savan-nah Times, recalls to that paper an incident that points a moral. The Times says: points a moral. The Times says:

In 1835 the late W. W. Gordon, who was after wards president of the Central railroad, was a member of the general assembly of Georgia. In urging that body to grant a charter to the Central railroad, he predicted that within the sound of his voice were men who would live to see the waters of the Atlantic connected with the Mississippi by an iron road.

This was a startling prediction, and the member from Cherokee moved that a committee be appointed to inquire into the lunacy of the member from Chatham.

from Chatham.

However, the charter was granted. In 1856, when the Memphis and Charleston road was opened, a solid train was run through from Charleston to Memphis. President Cuyler, of the Central, had a fire engine filled with water from Tybee, and that engine and a number of firemen were carried to Memphis. Being called upon to speak, President Cuyler had the firemen throw Tybee, and that engine and a number of firemen were carried to Memphis. Being called upon to speak, President Cuyler had the firemen throw from their engine a stream of the ocean water into the river, and then he told the story of President Gordon's prediction, and called upon the assembly to witness its fulfillment.

Colonel Livingston is not unknown in Washington. He was there during the last session of congress, and was the most eloquent and persuasive advocate before the senate committee of the measure which is now called the subtreasury bill. He is a thorough believer in that measure, and has no doubt that it will be favorably considered by the fifty-second congress. Although he is a thorough allianceman, Colonel Livingston declares that his first allegiance in politics is due to the The Rome Tribune says that Rome "must have the encampment." The board of trade of that city has so decided, and The Tribune intimates that this decision is imperative. ON THE WHOLE EAST TENNESSED

gineers and Conductors. A big strike is imminent on the East Ten essee, Virginia and Georgia road. The brakemen and firemen think they have been injustly discriminated against in the matter

The round trip distance between Atlants and Chattanooga on that road is about 280 miles. The firemen and brakemen say the standard wages throughout the country two-thirds the rate paid the engineers and conductors, and that is what they ask for. T. M. Blodgett, Joe Herrick and James

Johnson were appointed a grievance committee to ask for redress, and yesterday waited upon Superintendent Beaupre, of the Georgia division, with the following petition: ATLANTA, March 22 .- Superinten Division, East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia Railroad.—Sir: We desire to inform you, and through you the general officers, that there doe exist a deep-rooted dissatisfaction among the firemen and brakemen of the Georgia division, at the gross injustice done them by the unreasonable discrimination between the compensation of the engineers and firemen and conductors and orakemen respectively.

At the present rate of compensation with the great delay we encounter and enormous board we have to pay on the road, we are absolutely unable o make a support for ourselves and families. Conductors and engineers often make from sa to $25 and from $25 to $30 per trip, respectively; and the poor brakeman $4.50, and the hardworked fireman $6.20 per trip, even if it consumes an entire week, as is very frequently the perceive the injustice. We most respectfully be-seech you to give this matter your most careful onsideration. After mature deliberation jointly assembled, we empower our committee to respectfully request you to fix our compensation at two (2) cents per mile and twenty (20) cents per hour for all lay-out time. We endeavor to approach you in an intelligent and gentlemanly manner, and most respectfully besech you to redress ou wrongs and prevent chaos, confusion and delay to freight by favoring us with an answer on or be-

The petition is signed by 270 firemen and braken Mr. Beaupre told the men he had been try ing to make the run to Chattanooga a thirteenhour run, under which the pay would be about as much as the other roads pay.

The men claim that this cannot be done. The committee states that Mr. Beaupre in his reply said it was the western men who were coming down here and raising trouble by demanding the same wages paid by western and northern roads, and that the roads had never had any trouble with the southern men.

After a consultation of thirty minutes or more the committee left the superintendent's office in a very dissatisfied frame of mind, and are confident they will have to look for redress from some other quarter.

The strongest point in the whole matter is the claim of the men that their demand is backed by the engineers and conductors. They say that the engineers and conductors have agreed that, should any trouble come, they will not haul on their engines or trains any 'scabs." This agreement, is, they claim, in writing.

The East Tennessee road, the men claim, is doing as heavy freight business as any other road in the country, and can therefore afford to pay the increased wages.

The road is in such shape at present, the nen say, with the yards at all the main points full of cars, that a strike would completely block it and cause it great loss.

JOHNSTON AND SHERMAN. A Surrender Made in a Practical and Sociable Way.

Frank A. Burr. the most interesting and significant Johnston's surrender to Sherman. When the two met in the little hut beyond Raleigh, N. C., and made the last treaty of the war, while it was not accepted as the final settlement of a great dispute, it was so dramatic and important that the world will read it in generations to come.

There was not much nonsense about either one of these warriors, and when they settled down to business it was practical instead of sentimental, They liked each other from their old school days in West Point, and there was not much difficulty in their coming to terms. John C. Breckinridge, who was a division general with Johnston, was the only attendant with the confederate general. He was fond of drink, and neither of the two great commanders were averse to it. Sherman opened the hostilities by producing a bottle from his haversack. Breckinridge emptie a quid of tobacco in his hands in anticipa a sniffter, and threw it out of the window man, busy with the important events of the mo-ment, forgot the candidate for vice president of the United States, passed the bottle to Johnston, took a drink himself and left the third party out

Mr. Clarkson came to this city from the cast about two and a half years ago. He has made an enviable reputation as a rising business man, and none was more popular with his associates both in business and social life. He was one of the reorganizers and leading spirits of the Electric Club, an organization having for its object the study of the science of electricity and its application. The club will meet at its rooms at 10 o'clock this morning to take appropriate action on his death. It will also attend his funeral in a body.

DELEGATE TO BOSTON.

Mr. L. P. Huddleston Elected to Represen

the Typographical Union. A special meeting of the Atlanta Typo graphical Union was held in Red Men's hal last evening. It was called for the purpose of electing a delegate to the annual convention of the International Union, which will be held at Boston next June.

There were five candidates in the field for the coveted prize, and after repeated balloting Mr. L. P. Huddleston, of The Constitu-tion composing room, was declared elected on a vote of 58 out of a total of 101.

A full attendance was present at the meeting. Several lady members of the union were there, and though their vote was impartial at the begining, they were solid for "Pres" on the last ballot, causing him to retire behind a curtain to hide his blushes.

It will be remembered this powerful labor organization held its last annual convention in this city in June of 1890.

RUNS RIOT UPON THE STAGE AT

'Xenonia's" First Dress Rehearsal-Som of the Pleasures and Sorrows of Amateur Theatricals.

When it is fun you are after, "A Parlor Match" or the "Fat Man's Club" isn't in it as compared to "Xeonia," the play written and staged by Phil and Earl Akerman, two Atlanta youngsters, thirteen and sixteen year of age, the first performance of which is to be given Friday evening for the benefit of the Young Men's library.

Alvin Joslin's alleged 180 laughs in 180

minutes does not even faintly express the Concordia hall won't hold the people who will go to see the show, which is really a won-derful production, considering that it is en-tirely—scenic effects, costumes and all—the work of boys, the two Akermans and their Last night the first dress rehearsal was held at Concordia hall. The rehearsal was accompanied by an orchestra of three fiddles, two horns, a wooden whistle, two drums, a piano, The orchestral business is presided over by a eader who is himself no inconsiderable feature of attraction. Before the curtain, which goes up by in stallments, began its aerial assent, I paid a self-invited visit behind the scenes, where I found several little fellows undergoing the process of evolution from boys to red devils with horns. The clown was stuffing a pair of rag-bags into the front side of his calico trousers ,and the prince who was to fall in love with the beautiful girl was filling up the slack in a pair of flesh-colored cotton tights with handfuls of cotton batting. Another youngster was standing before a glass arranging a pair of red whiskers on his while the devil in chief practiced a Scott Thornton stride between the wings.

The band practiced the first sixteen bars of Annie Rooney, during which process the leader got excited and knocked the music rack over with his baton.

The curtain finally went up to the tune "They're After Me," presenting a cavern where evil spirits were supposed to be quartered. A youngster, looking much like James Owen O'Connor's Hamlet, was sitting in a chair of appropriate design. Directly Prince, or something with flesh-colored tights, came on with flery strides, and in stentorian tones said thing with nesh-colored tights, came on with fiery strides, and in stentorian tones said something peculiarly incomprehensible about the girls in the plot. Then the evil spirit moved his arms, and stamped his foot three times, and out popped two little red devils from a pair of doors in the scenery.

"Read the Answer in the Stars."

There are several other scenes of more or less importance to the plot, when the clown and Irishman appear and steal the "girl" out of her father's house. This act is done in pantomime, with a reckless use of brickbats and cudgels that is sure to produce the desired effect upon the audience Friday night,

As the scene draws to a close the Irishman, who is stage manager, while engaged in a scramble with the clown, kicked over a table and then yelled to the fly manipulators to shove out the next scene.

After the fairy queen and her maid of honor have appeared and sung a very pretty little song the great third act comes on.

This is great. It consists of a series of mechanical devices, which, however, did not work well at first.

After the various strings had been pulled, and had failed to do what was expected of them, the stage manager, who was on doing a pantomime act with the clown, stepped out and informed the audience that he had a lot of crazy people helping him run the show, and he'd have to try this act over again.

The curtain went down, while the istrings were being rearranged. When it rose again revealing the Irishman and clown ready to try their pantomime act over again, some noise

The trial related to the white cap troubles in Elbert and Madison counties last fall. In the report at the time it was stated that a gang went to the house of one Luther Ross at night to capture him, but Ross escaped out of

When the case came up in court yesterday Messrs. Bud Hall and G. H. Denney, of El-bert county, appeared on the charge of having been in this gang. It was proven that, instead of being a gang, the party was a sheriff's posse, and Messrs. Hall and Denney were acting under official instructions. On this the ase against them was promptly dismissed.

AT THE THEATER.

The Pearl Melville Company presented "Ten Nights in a Barrom" last night to an audience fair in point of numbers. Miss Melville was not in the cast, but the company gave a creditable per-formance. At the matinee today and tonight's performance 'The Queen's Evidence' will be on the bill.

The "Corsair." Rice's gorgeous comic opera extravaganza, the "Corsair," will be brought out in all its magnificence for the first time in this city at the opera house on next Monday and Tuesday. The "Corsair" is just the sort of operatic burlesque that pleases everybody. It is given on a grand scale, with stage pictures of bright colors, intermingled in a gorgeous, yet artistic manner. The scenery is new, the music is bright and catchy, and the cast is made up of people possessing cleverness in bringing out with good effect all the theverness in oringing out with good effects it the humorous situations. The "Corsair" is a grand spectacle; besutifully staged, elegantly costumed and musically well given. The play is taken from Byron's poem of the same name, and it rolls, tumbles and glides along through the time that it occupies the stage, delighting the audience and winning merited applies. That it will be greeted by crowded houses goes without saying.

"Rajimo!" "Rajimo!"

We know of nothing more disappointing to a person than a poor cup of coffee. He goes to the breakfast table feeling badly and tired, with the hope of being exhilarated by a fine cup of coffee. When, lo! some poor, weak coffee is set before him. Disappointment steals over his soul, and the day begins wrong.

Our "Rijamo" coffee, on the contrary, always goes to the right spot. When a man goes to the table and its fine aroma greets him, a smile comes over his countenance, and having enjoyed its elegant flavor, he arises refreshed.

The "Rijamo" is a combination coffee, of the finest grades we can buy. It is always freshly parched, and of uniform quality. It sells for the low price of 35 cents per pound.

You will also find every variety of the finest quality and purest groceries at our store.

Our fresh stock of evaporated peaches, pears, blackberries, apricots and apples are giving fine satisfaction. What do you think of a delicious cherry pie at this time of the year. Our pitted cherries will make them.

We can also please you in preserves and jellies. A new stock of every variety of pure fruit, jelly and preserves came in yesterday.

Also, pickles of every kind, cantaloupe mangoes' stuffed cucumbers, bell peppers, sweet and sour mixed, by the quart or gallon; canliflower mixed, plain and chow, in bottles, from 15 cents per bottle up. ### THE NEW YORK STOCK MARKET. The Day on the Floor of the New York Stock

THE NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, March 25.—Dullness and stagnation in the stock market were still most intense today, though they were relieved in a measure by the renewed activity and strength in Grangers and a few specialties. Activity and excitement in the grain markets now draw all the attention from the speculative community, and until speculation in cereals has culminated there is little chance of an imitation in any other speculative market. Opinions as to the course of the stock market in the immediate future are, therefore, hard to obtain, and, indeed, so many houses in Wall street now have their entire time taken up with following fluctuations in grain that no attention is paid whatever to fluctuations in stocks. The sentiment, however, continues strongly bullish, despite the dullness, and it is evident that holders of stocks are possessed of unusual patience, or liquidation would have been forced ere this in most of the leading shares. The only really active interest in the market seems to be shorts in Grangers, and they furnished the moving force today, another effort to cover resulting in forcing up prices of all Grangers, while the movement for a time spread to other stocks, New England, Atchison, Louisville and Missouri Pacific feeling the stimulus. In obedience to the general bullish sentiment, and in the absence of any pressure to sell from any quarter, the opening this morning was quiet but firm, and farther improvement was made in early dealings under the influence of a moderate covering of shorts. This movement, however, became most pronounced in Grangers toward noon, when Rock Island was forced up 1½, St. Paul and Burlington each 1 per cent, and others in proportion, the movement extending to other stocks. A very favorable report of the earnings of St. Paul for the third week in March started buying, but it did not stop there. The highest prices were generally reached about noon and were well held all through the afternoon until the tinue large, but have ceased apparently to have effect upon the market. The port movement today is 13,560 bales, against 4,729 bales last year, and the total for the week thus far is 79,980 bales. Tomorrow's figures promise larger, and it seems not improbable that by Priday evening the aggregate will reach 106,060 bales. The influence that offsets these figures is the underlying sentiment that cotton at 9c is reasonable if not cheap; and, although this sentiment has not proved itself strong enough to much advance prices, it makes itself felt in every recession, as it did this morning. The result was that, after opening at last night's prices and declining to 8.03 for August, a slow recovery set in, under the influence of which the close was within 3 points of yesterday's best figures. The Liverpool market showed an improvement of 3 points, of which it subsequently lost; point. Spot sales were 6,000 bales. The Easter holidays commence tomorrow evening here and last until Wednesday morning.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Features of the Speculative Movement in Grain and Provisions. Grain and Provisions.

CHICAGO, March 25.—The bulls in all products made a vigorous onslaught on their enemies at the opening of change. The vigor of the attack showed that they considered their position temporarily weak, and that it needed bolstering up. Corn and provisions responded less freely. All of the markets, however, broke badly before the day was far advanced. May wheat started at $1.64, sold to $1.04\%, hroke to $1.04. This was very near the "put" price. Purchases against these privileges held the market here. July wheat started $1.03\%, and off to $1.01\%, hroke to $1.03. This was very near the "put" price. Purchases against these privileges held the market here. July what started $1.02\%, sold to $1.03\%, and off to $1.01\%, where it closed, the last cable advices being easier.

There was a regular boom in corn at the outset. Receipts were extremely light at 105 cars. Scalpers were short, and the bull leaders, headed by Bartlett-Frazier, were bidding prices higher. May corn started anywhere from from 68\% acos 84\% and speedily sold to 69\% co. the before noon the price was $7\circ. Many of the commission houses, having advices of large quantities of corn en route for this market, they were accordingly trying to sell out their futures. The demand was not good after the first half hour of the session, and the effect was shown in the price. The closing price for May delivery was 67\%. The most alarming feature in the situation to outside holders is the changed position toward the local clique which has contributed so powerfully to the present inflation. Bradstreet reports the stock of corn increased 209,000 bushels.

Outs attracted a fair amount of attention, prices following those of corn.

AMONG THE BAILROADS.

CHANGE DEVELOPED IN THE

situation on the Marietta and North Georgia road yesterday. It was rumored in town that on Monday night some persons had burned out the grates in one engine at Marietta belonging ng them both useless for the time Whether the work was done by the Judge Tompkins evidently doesn't think much of the suggestion recently made, that Judge Newman step in and settle off-hand the

"Indge Newman can act in the matter only when a case is made," said he, yesterday. "The striking engineers say they are in the right and Mr. Glover is wrong. Why don't they do something, then, besides talk? When a man is discharged by his employer he can sue for damages, and if he is in the right the court will compensate him. It looks to me. sue for damages, and if he is in the right the court will compensate him. It looks to me as if they thought they had no case. Those men went on a strike because three of their number were discharged by the road. Their places were all filled. Now they demand that those men be discharged and themselves reinstated. They are so prejudiced they can't see the injustice of their demand, and because Mr. Glover real' gives in the them they declare between of their demand, and because Mr. Glover won't give in to them they declare a boycott against the road. The brotherhood is not a legal body, a common carrier or anything else. It is not incorporated, and the law can't touch it. That is where its power lies."

The assistant grand chief of the brotherhood is expected in the city today, and it is thought his mission here is to effect, if possible, some sort of a reconciliation.

The Situation at Knoxville. Engineer Pettibone, of Louisville, chairman of the Brothercood of Locomotive Engineers for the Louisville and Nashville road, is here today in the interest of the Knoxville Southern strike. He, in conjunction with Engineer Pearl, of Atlanta, will attempt a settlement of some kind. It is given out here tonight that the entire matter on behalf of the strikers has been turned over to them. The statement is made that Chief Arthur has fully recstatement is made that Chief Arthur has fully recognized the strike and puts it in the hands of his lieutenant to settle. Raceiver Glover announces that he has plenty of good engineers and can run his road without brotherhood men. Engineers of roads here continue to move Knoxville Southern cars. There seems to be a disposition to forect the Knoxville, Cumberland Gap and Louisyille engineers to stop hauling Knoxville Southern cars. In case they do it will make business very dull for Knoxville, She gets about all her freight over that line, which is her close friend.

Knoxville Southern and Gap and Louisville engineers will continue to pull cars consigned to the Knoxville Southern unless a general boycott is ordered. In that event it would involve the East Tennessee, Louisville and Nashville, and perhaps Nortolk and Western and even other roads. The companies cannot refuse to receive cars, as they would be liable under the law of common carriers, interstatel commence act, as direct violators of a statutory provision of Tennessee.

they would be liable under the law of common carriers, interstatel commerce act, as direct violators of a statutory provision of Tennessee There is considerable feeling among the engineers tonight. Receiver Glover, of the Knoxville Southern, is backed by the United States court and the fact that Uncle Sam can't be "monkeyed" with, complicates matters. It is still hoped her that matters will be settled without trouble. The engineers are acting with great prudence and fully appreciate the position of their companies.

appreciate the position of their companies.

The trouble on the Central road is more aggravated than ever. The officers of the road are authority for the statement that some 400 cars are on its tracks in and around she city, which they are unable to move. The Western and Atlantic road has from 200 to 250 cars strung along on side tracks all the way from Chattanooga, all of which are consigned to the Central, but cannot be accepted. The other roads have an aggregate of about 125. The strike, of course, is largely responsible for this state of affairs, coming as it did at a time when the yards had not fully recovered from the crowded state caused by the recent long-continued and heavy rains. The men from Savannah are good men and experienced, but they have scarcely any knowledge of the local yards, and are, of course, in somparative confusion. The road's officers say that matters, instead of improving, are daily growing worse.

present quarters in the old building in the just below Forsyth street are too crowded. They laugh at the report recently published that the new offices would be erected on the property facing the tracks between Broad street bridge and Peachtree street, and say that site has not even been considered. In fact nothing definite has been done in the matter, as there is no especial hurry. When the new offices are selected and in shape for occupation they will probably be occupied by Superintendent McCollum, General Passenger Agent Harman, Traffic Manager Brown, General Freight Agent Dickey and Resident En-gmeer McDonald. Local Agent Black will probably remain in the old building and will be given just double the room he at present occupies, which will fix him up comfortably. The new quarters will be either leased or constructed and will be situated at some point where they will be easily accessible to the general public.

President Thomas, of the Nashville, Chatta-nooga and St. Louis road; President Smith, of the Louisville and Nashville, and President Felton, of the East Tennessee road, held a joint conference in Louisville Saturday on matters said to be of joint interest in Adauta. Just what these mat-ters were nobody knows, but it is surmised that ters were nobody knows, but it is surmised that the object of the consultation was in the interest of the shippers over the East Tennessee system. The Louisville and Nashville now will not handle East Tennessee cars coming from a competitive point, and this causes the East Tennessee people considerable delay in the shipment of freight. It is thought the object of the consultation was for the purpose of making an agreement by which the cars could be handled.

For the first two weeks of this month the earnings of the Louisville and Nashville road were $364,990, an increase over the corresponding period ayear ago of $12.275. The increase up to date

The report of the South Carolina railroad commission of railroad earnings for January shows a total increase of $162,285.14 over the same period last year, $99,188.06 being the increase in freight earnings. Only eight out of thirty-four roads show a decrease. The largest increase is for the South Carolina railway, $35,462.21; the Port Royal and Augusta comes next with over $10,000. The total increase in tonnage is 56,142 tons.

The earnings of the Richmond and Danville road for the second week in March were $279,375, as against $265,650 for the same period a year ago.

The contractors on the extension of the Mobile and Girard road, from Troy, Ala., south have recently commenced track-laying, and that work is now progressing quite fairly. The grading has been finished on about half the extension between Troy and Andalusia, Ala., a distance of fifty-one miles. This work has been done on irregular sections on different parts of the line. A large force of men and teams is now working on the grading and bridging on the unabished portions. The terminus of the line for the present will be a point in Covington county, on the Ecambia river, opposite Andalusia. The extension is built through dense timber lands, and the work is generally heavier than the average for southern pine country. The maximum curvature is five degrees and the maximum grade is 1½ per cent. The principal tresite is one 4,000 feet long, built across the Concountriver swamp. The principal bridge is one over the l'atsaliga river, which is about 125 feet long.

The earnings of the Cincinnati, New Orleans and Texas Pacific road for the second week in March were $72,049, an increase of $1.852 over the corresponding period of a year ago.

rainished, or for damages sustained, hens against the railroad, with rights prior to all other liens. The point in the present case is whether or not this is an impairment of the contract of the charter granted in 184 to a railroad company, of which the present East Tennessee road is the successor. By this charter the railroad company was authorized to mortgage its charter and road in order to complete its construction and equipment. The court holds that there is no impairment of contract, and that the rights granted by the charter cased with the construction and equipment of the road.

Another meeting of passenger representatives of all southern roads will be held at Birmingham. Ala., on April 1st to discuss matters of general interest, but particularly to arrange summer excursion rates, the figures, limits, conditions and other details. It has formerly been the rule to open the excursion business about June 1st, but there is a growing sentiment in favor of an earlier date, by fitteen days or so, and it is probable that such an arrangement will be made. The former date is the one used on northern roads, but it is found rather late for southern excursion business. There appears to be an unusually fine outlook for that class of travel this year, for already some of the leading resorts are booking guests, full a month earlier than ever before.

intends to give two excursions—one to St. Si-mon's island on May 2d, and the other to Cummon stand on May 2d, and the other to Cumberland island on May 16th. These May excursions are given every year by the East Tennessee road, which spares neither pains nor expense to insure its patrons a good time. Vast improvements have been made on these islands during the past year, and it is safe to assume that both excursions will be liberally patronized.

Throws It Off. Throws It Off.

There is no disease more disagreeable and uncomfortable than catarrh. It attacks the young and the old, and it is too often allowed to take its course. In such cases it frequently becomes dangerous. The poison extends to the throat and lungs, resulting in complications that are not readily overcome. All forms of catarrh, however, disappear before S. S. S., and that medicine is now recognized as an almost infallible remedy for the disease. It regulates the liver, improves the digestion, and brings about conditions that enable the system to throw off the malady. Catarrh and its attendant aggravations disappear before S. S. S., and so do all other diseases that grow out of a bad liver and impure blood.

A very happy marriage occurred at the home of Major T. M. Barna yesterday at 12:30 o'clock. The contracting parties were Mr. James Harrison Whitner and Miss Annie Barna, the lovely daughter of Major Barna. Rev. Dr. Barnett performed the ceremony, only a few friends and the relatives of the young couple being present. The bride is a young lady of rare beauty and popularity. The groom, who is the son of Judge Whitner, of Anderson, S. C., has a bright future before him in his chosen profession. After the marriree ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Whitner left for a tour through Florida and Cuba. On their return they will visit Anderson, S. C., the home of the groom, after which they will make their home in Atlanta.

Many handsome presents were given the youn people, and they have the best wishes of a host of friends.

A very delightful progressive euchre party was given last evening by Miss Grant in honor of her guests, Miss Cobb, of Macon, and Miss Lewis, of St. Louis. The prizes were very handsome, and delicious refreshments were beautifully served during the expring:

GREENVILLE, Miss., March 25.—[Special.]—The social event of the season in this city is a grand mask ball now going on at the hall of the Harmony Club. It is largely attended by people far and near. The ball is given by our Jewish citizens for the benefit of the Widows' and Orphans' home in New Orleans. Among the maskers are some handsome costumes, as well as original characters, worn by both sexes. Some valuable and handsome prizes are awaiting the lucky ones. After the ball a bounteous supper will be served. From a financial standpoint, it will prove a great success.

The Monroe Enquirer says, in speaking of this lecture: "The scenes were pathetic and pleasing. His tragi-comic variegations were sufficient to have moistened the eyes of a stoic with tears, and transformed the snari of a cynic into a merry transformed the snarl of a cynic into a merry laugh.

"His speech flowed sweetly and gently as the stream that steals along the green sward, and then broke into torrents, whose spray was illuminated by the prismatic hues of a brilliant fancy."

The Mecklenberg Times says of this lecture:

"Mr. Belk describes its resources like a man of the world who is seeking wealth; its climate, like an invalid who is seeking for health; its scenery, like an artist who is seeking the beautiful; its immorality, like a man of God who is seeking souls. Mr. Belk has the descriptive ability of a Bret Harte, the humor of a Mark Twain, the pathos of a Charles Dickens, and the practical forecast of a Patrick Henry."

ABOUT THE CAPITOL. OZBURN'S APPEAL FOR A NEW TRIAL ARGUED YESTERDAY.

A DeKalb County Farmer Has a Complaint Against Castor Beans—Other Matters at the Statehouse

Will Ozburn hang?

That is the question now pending before the supreme court. The court below refused a new trial, and this is the last appeal. The case is of more than ordinary importance, even for a murder case where life is at

This is the first instance in several years where a Fulton county jury has imposed a sentence of death. There have been murders and murders, but the limit has been imprison-

It had become a proverb that hanging in Fulton county was a thing of the past. The argument in the case before the su-preme court yesterday was able and exhaus-

And Colonel W. H. Hulsey will conclude this morning for the plaintiff. Will Ozburn hang?

Something Wrong in DeKalb. Mr. J. A. Carroll, a well-known DeKalb county farmer, called in to see the commissioner of agriculture yesterday with reference to a disease of some sort amongst stock in his neighborhood.

Mr. Carroll himself has lost a mule and a horse, and is about to lose another horse. "I had a veterinary surgeon from Atlanta to look into the matter," said Mr. Carroll, "and he can account for it only upon the ground of their having eaten castor beans. The beans grow abundantly in that neighborhood, and they have never before been considered fatal or even injurious to stock."

The trouble has baffled the old-fashioned remedies, and there is no little excitement in the neighborhood over it.

Must the castor bean go? and if so, what

Other Fulton County Cases Argued. Besides the Ozburn case, three other Fulton county cases were argued before the supreme court yesterday. They were Lowry Banking Company vs. Abbott and Smith; Morrison et al. vs. Cohen, and Kenny vs. Wallace.
